

A partnership with SwitchWaterSupplier.com works to grow your business!

If you are an energy or utilities broker, water consultant or even a water retailer, a silent partnership with SwitchWaterSupplier.com will help you to deliver a comprehensive portfolio of water services to your clients, increasing your profitability and customer retention.

Whether you're an energy and utilities broker, or a water retailer, SwitchWaterSupplier.com's full service business model presents opportunities for your business too.

Our unique non-household tendering and switching platform¹ offers opportunities that extend beyond bringing customers and water retailers together and promotes value-added services² to customers, all of which SwitchWaterSupplier.com can offer your business as a 'white-labelled' service that slots in to your operation with minimal investment or risk.

Further opportunities exist for brokers to begin offering a switching advisory service that uses the SwitchWaterSupplier.com platform¹ behind the scenes to reach out and invite the entire water retail market to tender for your clients' business.

Your use of the SwitchWaterSupplier.com platform¹ is entirely free, but we're also working on being able to offer a fully white-labelled option for those energy brokers that wish to integrate the service as their own and allow their customers to benefit from the comprehensive management features as well as take part in the live tender processes.

Benefiting from the SwitchWaterSupplier.com tendering and switching platform

Calling all energy and utility brokers!

We understand that the margins available from switching water suppliers for you customers are minimal, especially in England. Approaching the entire water retail market on your customers' behalf remains largely impractical. Even by expending the resource to make widespread enquiries doesn't guarantee a response that can be conveyed back to the customer, so the argument goes, 'why bother'? Instead, why not approach a handful of water retailers at best, knowing that an arrangement with one or two provides an opportunity to tick a box, switch the customer and receive a one-time commission payment?

Well, SwitchWaterSupplier.com is championing the customer and the water retailer alike, and we believe that with the systems like ours in place, approaching the entire UK water retail market³ every time will become standard practice, and a customer (and water retailer) expectation within a very short space of time. As more switching platforms come online, each marketing itself directly to the non-household customer, it becomes increasingly important for energy and water brokers and consultants to protect their customer bases by ensuring the services offered reflect the market-wide reach and visibility made available by our platform.

is working on some innovative partner features, which will allow your business to manage switching and tendering for your customers like never before... and you need not make reference to SwitchWaterSupplier.com if you want to remain the water experts in your customers' eyes!

So, why not partner with us to tap in to our technology, improve your service offering, secure your customer base and increase profit along the way?
